Given name: Harold Douglass Baines. Opening Day age: 28, turns 29 March 15. Born: March 15, 1959, Easton, Md. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/weight: 6-2/195. Major league tenure: Eight years. Residence: St. Michaels, Md. Contract status: Signed through 1988. Family: Married Marla Henry; daughters Antoinette (March 6, 1984) and Britni (October 31, 1985); son Harold, Jr. (December 18, 1987). First pro contract: White Sox. Major league debut: April 10, 1980 with the White Sox (vs. Baltimore). Sox acquisition: Selected first round (first in nation), June, 1977, free agent draft.

1987: Authored club's longest hitting streak at 18 games from July 3-24 during that streak, Baines became the all-time White Sox home run leader when he clubbed his 155th round-tripper July 22 at Comiskey Park off Baltimore's Mike Boddicker had equalled Bill Melton's mark of 154 the evening before with a shot off the Orioles' Ken Dixon added 156th homer in his next game versus New York, giving him homers in three straight games for the only time in 1987 six homers and 22 RBI in the 18-game skein streak was wrapped around his third straight appearance in baseball's All-Star Game served almost exclusively as a designated hitter after undergoing arthroscopic surgery on his right knee April 9 did not let the lack of defensive play affect his hitting, posting a .293 batting average, 20 home runs and 93 RBI named the American League's top designated hitter in a poll of sports writers, broadcasters, and public relations directors played right field Opening Day at Kansas City (April 6) but returned to Chicago two days later to have his bothersome right knee examined had undergone arthroscopic surgery on that same knee the previous September placed on the 15-day disabled list and did not return to duty until May 8 missed 23 games while on the DL had two hits Opening Day and hit safely in his first eight games upon his return a slow starter in previous seasons, Baines maintained a .300-plus average through May just three home runs through May (22 games) but hit three round-trippers in his first four June games hit 16th home run July 24 but connected for just four more the rest of the way finished the season on a hot note, batting .471 (16-34) in his final eight games and hitting safely in his concluding four contests the knee injury held him to just 132 games, the fewest of his major league career with the exception of the strike-shortened 1981 season the missed games prevented him from leading the Sox in any major offensive categories still second in RBI with 93 and just percentage points behind Ivan Calderon for the best batting average on the club the 20 home runs marked his sixth straight season with 20 or more round-trippers, a club record batted .290 as a designated hitter with 19 home runs and 89 RBI, including all 10 of his GWRBI 117 starts as a DH and eight assignments in right field first start in outfield after his knee scoping was July 27 at Detroit last defensive start and appearance was August 22 at Texas errorless in 13 chances in his eight games in the outfield no multi-homer games but a pair of four-RBI contests (July 5 at Cleveland and September 16 versus Minnesota) three-for-nine as a pinch-hitter with one homer (June 21 at Minnesota) hit .312 at home and .274 in enemy territory hit over .300 against six American League rivals with a best of .410 in 10 games versus Cleveland.

Major League Highlights: Currently the king of White Sox home run hitters with 160.....six consecutive seasons with 20 or more home runs, a club record.....has spent entire big league career with the White Sox.....three consecutive All Star Game appearances and the lone Sox representative each of the last two years. 1986: Narrowly missed his third consecutive .300-plus season with a .296 batting averagedenied the chance to top the .300 plateau when a knee injury forced him to miss the final nine games of the season underwent arthroscopic surgery on the right knee at the conclusion of the season led the club in four key offensive categories: hits (169), runs (72), home runs (21), and RBI (88) notched 1,000th career hit July 7 against Cleveland hit at a .331 clip in Comiskey Park and just .264 on the road after being the American League's best road batsman in 1985 with a .335 mark notched one five-hit (September 18 at Seattle) and three four-hit games managed hits in six consecutive at bats May 16-17 vs. Kansas City longest hitting streak was an 11-gamer from April 20 through May 4 (17-46, .370, six homers, 15 RBI) all four of his homers from May 12-June 12 came in the ninth inning and six of his 21 for the season came in the ninth frame belted 13 of his 21 round-trippers on the road, including four at Tiger Stadium. 1985: Hit over .300 for the second consecutive season, finishing sixth in the American League in hitting, fourth in RBI and ninth in total bases also tied for seventh in game-winning RBI and for fourth in sacrifice flies made first appearance in baseball's All-Star Game, facing a pinch single in his only at bat named to The Sporting News and UPI all-star teams at the conclusion of the season his .309 batting average and 113 RBI remain career highs narrowly missed getting 200 hits in one season for the first time in his career when Seattle held him hitless in his final 13 at bats settled for a total of 198, the most hits by a White Sox player since Nellie Fox collected the same amount in 1955 ninth in the A.L. with 299 total bases and just missed becoming the first White Sox player to record 300 total bases twice in his career (had personal high of 308 in 1984) owned the club's longest hitting streak of the season at 14 games (25-62, .403) April 14-30 also enjoyed skeins of 12 and 10 games a notorious slow starter, Baines jumped out to a great start, hitting .356 in April slumped to .188 in May hit over .300, though, in the season's final three months held to just nine homers through August 22, Baines belted 13 round-trippers the first of those 13 was his first career Comiskey Park roof shot August 23 vs. Toronto homerless from April 18-June 18 no multiple-homer games belted his fifth career grand slam (a Sox record) July 2 vs. Seattle in Chicago recorded first career five-hit game at Milwaukee August 17 with five safeties in six at bats placed third among A.L. outfielders with a .9939 fielding percentage, committing just two errors in 328 total chances. 1984: Hit .304, the only Sox .300 hitter his first .300 season slammed a career-high 29 home runs, second most by a left-handed hitter in White Sox history (Oscar Gamble hit 31 in 1977) besides batting average, Baines led the White Sox in nearly every other offensive category: Hits (171), RBI (94), game-winning RBI (17), runs (72), doubles (28), triples (10), multiple-hit games (48), extra-base hits (67), total bases (308), and slugging percentage (.541) led the American League in slugging percentage and tied for second in game-winning RBI total-base figure was third best in White Sox history behind Joe Jackson (336 in 1920) and Carl Reynolds (329 in 1930) became only the 12th batter in Pale Hose history to reach double figures in all extra-base hit categories in one season and the first to accomplish the feat since Jorge Orta in 1975 ended the longest game (eight hours, six minutes) in major league history on May 9 when he hit the 753rd pitch of the contest (from Chuck Porter) into the center field bullpen to give the White Sox a 25-inning victory over Milwaukee at Comiskey Park the bat he used to hit the homer was sent to the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. homered three times in one game at Minnesota September 17. 1983: Set a then major league record with 22 game-winning RBI most significant GWRBI came September 17 at Comiskey Park when his ninth-inning sacrifice fly drove home Julio Cruz with the run that beat Seattle and clinched the White Sox' A.L. West Division championship, the franchise's first title since 1959 led the A.L. in homers hit in winning games (18) hit the White Sox' only grand slam home run of the season notched his 500th major league hit on August 29 owned a 19-game hitting streak, longest on the club (September 3-23) led the Pale Hose in outfield assists (10) for the second straight season finished second on the club in outfield defense (.973) only to A.L. leader and teammate Rudy Law.....batted .125 (2-16) in the American League Championship Series against Baltimore. 1982: Drove in 105 runs at 23, became the youngest player in White Sox history to crack the 100-RBI barrier RBI total represented the most by a Sox batter since Dick Allen accumulated 113 in 1972 enjoyed an incredible week in early July by hitting .500 (11-22), slamming five home runs, including a pair of grand slams, and driving in 13 runs in just six games the high point of his tear came July 7 when he blasted three home runs in one game, including an eighth-inning grand slam, to drive in six runs against

Detroit named A.L. player-of-the-week for his rampage. 1981: Ignored the sophomore jinx added 31 points to his rookie batting average tied for second in the A.L. in triples with seven hit .354 in August drove in 15 runs in 17 September games 25 multiple-hit games. 1980: Twenty years old during his impressive rookie season regular from the beginning appeared in 141 games, hitting 13 homers and driving in 49 runs while tying for the club lead in triples with six slammed a three-run home run and two doubles in four at bats at annual Hall of Fame Game in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Minor League Highlights: Spent just three seasons in the minor leagues in his only "AAA" season, 1979, Baines hit .298 with 22 homers and 87 RBI, and led Iowa, the White Sox "AAA" affiliate at the time, in triples (8), total bases (246), and slugging percentage (.528) etched his name in the record book in '79 by belting two home runs in the same inning on August 4 at Oklahoma City.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Quiet, soft-spoken personality "discovered" as a 12-year-old little leaguer by former White Sox owner Bill Veeck when both lived on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

Wilbur Wood is the last American League pitcher to win and lose 20 or more games in the same season. The Sox left-handed knuckleball artist posted an A.L.-leading 24 victories in 1973 while dropping 20 decisions.

Boston's major league best slumped to a .196 mark in September and October and finished the season with a .266 batting average tied for sixth on the club with 11 doubles in just 199 at bats knocked in a career-high four RBI at Milwaukee August 8 collected 14 RBI in his first 13 games with the Sox. 1985: Opened the season as the club's regular center fielder but a batting slump prompted his option to "AAA" Buffalo June 30 recalled September 1 and finished the season with the Sox started the season on a good note, hitting safely in his first four games with three two-hit games (7-14, .500), three doubles, a triple and three RBI belted first major league home run May 19 in Chicago off Texas' Charlie Hough Boston also recorded his first major league hit off Hough May 13, 1984 hit safely in six of his first seven games with at bats after his recall (9-23, .391). 1984: Made his major league debut May 13 an auspicious one by tripling off Hough in his first big league at bat followed with two consecutive singles before striking out in fourth trip, leaving him just one hit short of the major league and White Sox record for consecutive hits at the start of a major league career added a stolen base for good measure in his debut recalled by the parent White Sox three times from "AAA" Denver appeared in 35 White Sox games enjoyed a banner year at Denver (see below).

Minor League Highlights: Boston progressed through the White Sox farm system, reaching the major leagues in 1984 after stops at the "Rookie," "A," "AA," and "AAA" levels was a Midwest League all-star in 1982 in 1983, despite being promoted from "AA" to "AAA" in the final few weeks of the season, Boston still finished second on the Glens Falls ("AA") squad with 18 home runs and was fourth in RBI with 50 at the end of the '83 campaign, he was dubbed one of the top 10 major league prospects in the Eastern League by Baseball America he was accorded the same honor in '84 as an American Association player that year at Denver, Boston hit .312 and stole 40 bases in 127 games his average was fourth best in the American Association and he led the loop with 19 triples, the most recorded in that league in 19 years.....Boston earned American Association rookie-of-the-year honors.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Boston was selected by the White Sox as their first-round pick (seventh choice overall) in the June, 1981 free agent draft the choice made Boston the highest drafted player from the Cincinnati area since White Sox pitcher Richard Dotson was selected seventh in the nation by California in 1977 graduated from Woodward High in Cincinnati after a stellar prep career as a pitcher and football quarterback heavily recruited football player father Henry was manager of the Cincinnati Tigers semi-professional baseball team at one time that team's star player was outfielder Dave Parker owns an excellent impersonation of singer Stevie Wonder.

Carlton Fisk

Catcher/#72

Given name: Carlton Ernest Fisk. Nickname: "Pudge."
Opening Day age: 40. Born: December 26, 1947, Bellow Falls, Vt. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-2/225. Major league tenure: Sixteen years, 54 days. Residence: Lockport, Ill. Contract status: Signed through 1988. Family: Married Linda Foust; daughter Carlyn (September 26, 1970), son Carson (February 20, 1972) and daughter Courtney (February 18, 1976). First pro contract: Boston Red Sox; selected first round (fourth player in nation), January, 1967 free agent draft. Major league debut: September 18, 1969 with Boston (vs. Baltimore). Sox acquisition: Signed as a free agent March 10, 1981.

1987: Achieved several career milestones in his 16th full major league season and his seventh year with the White Sox collected 1,000th run batted in at California June 7 with a ninth-inning home run, his second round-tripper of the game belted his 300th career homer September 5 at Kansas City off the Royals' Danny Jackson also notched no. 299 off Jackson August 31 in Comiskey Park cracked his 20th home run of the season September 17 to beat Seattle in the 10th inning at Comiskey Park Fisk, at age 39, became the oldest catcher in baseball history and the oldest White Sox player to hit 20 or more home runs in one season a pair of homers off American League two-time Cy Young Award winner Roger Clemens at Boston August 26 gave Fisk his 20th career two-homer game a round-tripper at Boston August 24 was his 100th career shot at historic Fenway Park and his 10th there as a member of the White Sox just the third catcher in baseball history to collect 300 home runs, 1,000 runs and 1,000 RBI Johnny Bench and Yogi Berra are the other two now tied with Ted Simmons for sixth place on the all-time list of games caught at 1,761

..... Fisk and California's Bob Boone are two of only five players in the history of baseball to catch at least one-half of their club's games at age 39 or older Fisk made 102 starts behind the plate in '87 and appeared in 122 games there despite starting the season as a back-up to rookie Ron Karkovice Fisk finished the season with 23 home runs (304 career), 18 of them on the road that mark fell just one short of the club record for most road home runs (19 by Eddie Robinson in 1951) did not assume regular catching duties until early June made six starts as the Sox' designated hitter, six more at first base, and two opening assignments in left field (May 22 and 23 at Boston) in the season's first 50 games longest hitting streaks of the year were a pair of nine-gamers, one April 12-25 and the other September 14-22 his first 1987 start at first base April 26 (versus Toronto) was his first there since June 29, 1982 stole just one base for the year, but it keyed an 11-inning win at Kansas City September 6 while Fisk displayed more power on the road (18 homers and 47 RBI), he hit for a better average at home (.266) than he did away from home (.246) continued to haunt his old team by hitting four home runs against Boston, three off ace Roger Clemens and all four at Fenway Park also hit four round-trippers against California was hitting just .205 through July 2 but had hits in 48 of his last 70 games (72-239, .301) to raise his final average to .256 his career-high 17 GWRBI led the Sox and placed him in a three-way tie for second in the league.

Major League Highlights: Of his 304 lifetime homers, 284 have come while Fisk was catching that figure is third best among all catchers and second best in American League history Johnny Bench is the all-time leader (325 of 389) and Yogi Berra tops the A.L. backstops (313 of 358) Fisk's 142 homers with the White Sox place him third on the all-time club list behind Harold Baines (160) and Bill Melton (154) with 116 career stolen bases, Fisk is the only catcher in modern baseball history to top the century mark in both homers and stolen bases a 10-time selection to the A.L. All-Star team has enjoyed enormous success against his former Boston teammates since joining the White Sox in 1981 in just 70 games versus the Red Sox, Fisk has hit .319 with 24 home runs and 55 RBI has appeared in a pair of ALCS (Chicago in '83 and Boston in '75) and one World Series (Boston in '75). 1986: Battled nagging injuries and a virus for much of the season finished with a .221 batting average and 14 home runs still managed 63 RBI, second best total on the club batting average was the lowest of his 15 major league seasons and the homer total was his lowest since 1982 injuries included a bruised right wrist suffered when struck by a pitch in spring training and severely jammed thumb that ended his catching duties for the season September 15 also missed 11 games with a virus in July started the season's first 26 games in left field as the Sox inserted Joel Skinner behind the plate made first appearance as a catcher May 9 at Cleveland, catching the ninth inning made first catching start the following afternoon but did not catch a full game until May 12 at Baltimore batted just .200 with two home runs and seven RBI in the first 25 games while playing only left field offense improved when he returned to catching, homering once and driving in a dozen runs in 11-game period beginning May 9 recorded season-long 13-game hitting streak June 10-23, equalling concurrent skein by John Cangelosi and later one by Daryl Boston for the longest on the squad in '86 just one-for-eight as a pinch-hitter but the one hit was a three-run homer at Toronto August 21, his first homer in a guest role since September 20, 1984. 1985: Enjoyed the most productive season of his major league career career-high totals of 37 home runs and 107 RBI the homer total tied the White Sox club record established by Dick Allen in 1972 extra-base hit percentage of 47.29 led all A.L. regulars Fisk clubbed 33 of the 37 round-trippers while catching, breaking the A.L. single-season standard of 32 set by Detroit's Lance Parrish in 1982 it marked just the second time in his career Fisk topped the century mark in RBI his previous highs were 26 homers (1973, '77 and '83) and 102 RBI (1977) had three two-homer games drove in a season-high seven runs in a game at Texas September 6, equalling his career single-game high blasted his second Comiskey Park roofshot homer against Kansas City's Charlie Leibrandt May 30 the A.L.'s starting catcher in the All-Star Game when Parrish, voted to start in the fans' balloting, was scratched due to injury named to The Sporting News and UPI post-season A.L. all-star teams also received The Sporting News Silver Slugger Award among A.L. catchers Fisk led the A.L. in homers for much of the season's first half finished second for the season behind 38-year old Darrell Evans of Detroit who hit 40 one RBI in every 5.07 at bats ranked ninth in A.L. named league player-of-the-week for May 27-June 1 when he belted five homers and drove in 13 runs in just four games equalled his career best with 17 stolen bases (1982) stole the 100th base of his career May 13 in Chicago against Cleveland swiped second and third base in the second inning versus Oakland June 19 had 23 homers at the All-Star Game break and tied his career-high figure of 26 July 22 in the club's 89th game hit his 32nd homer August 14 against New York in the Sox' 110th game but added just five more in the final 53 contests longest homerless stretch was 16 games from September 7-23 longest hitting streak was an eight-gamer that opened his season (12-31, .387) missed the season's first three games with a muscle pull in his left hip suffered in the final weekend of spring training, his only significant injury of the season made 121 starts behind the plate and 28 more as the Sox designated hitter underwent a rigorous off-season weight-training program prior to the '85 season, adding weight and bulk recorded a pair of putouts at home plate August 2 in New York in one of the most bizarre plays of '85 Fisk took shortstop Ozzie Guillen's relay throw from the outfield on a ball hit to the gap by Rickey Henderson and tagged out out both Bobby Meacham and Dale Berra, who were just steps apart, in succession at home plate Fisk named Chicago's co-player-of-the-year along with the Cubs' Keith Moreland by the Chicago chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America. 1984: Spent the season hampered by an abdominal muscle pull suffered Opening Day forced onto the disabled list once (June 23-July 4) and appeared in only 102 games, his fewest in three seasons Fisk made only 86 appearances behind the plate, 11 as a pinch-hitter and five as a designated hitter despite limited duty, Fisk still became only the second catcher in White Sox history to hit at least 20 home runs in more than one season with 21 round-trippers (Sherm Lollar was the other backstop to accomplish the feat) became only the third player in White Sox history to hit for the cycle and the first to do it at Comiskey Park when he singled, doubled, tripled, and homered against Kansas City May 16 prior to Fisk's fireworks, the last Sox batter to accomplish the feat was Jack Brohamer June 24, 1977 at Seattle Ray Schalk, another catcher, was the first, cycling June 22, 1922 at Detroit 43 RBI marked the lowest total in history for a major leaguer with 20 or more home runs. 1983: Finished a strong third in balloting for the A.L. most valuable player award Fisk was a driving force in the White Sox' 1983 West Division championship, turning a bad year into an outstanding one struggled for the first two months when manager Tony La Russa moved Fisk to the second spot in the batting order June 15, Fisk went on a tear, hitting a torrid .329 (112-340) Fisk hit .319 during the second half (88-176) to raise his season average to .289 second on the White Sox in runs (85) and third in home runs (26) 26-home run output matched his then single-season high first set in 1973 and 1977 with Boston joined Ron Kittle (35) and Greg Luzinski (32) to set a club three-man, single-season home run record of 93. 1982: Third on the club in steals (17), fourth in RBI (65) and runs (66) put together a 12-game hitting streak (July 26-August 9) and hit safely in 23 of 25 games (July 26-August 23), driving in five runs in a game against his former teammates, the Red Sox, July 30 made his second straight All-Star Game appearance as a White Sox player. 1981: Fisk's first season with the White Sox after signing as a free agent produced strike-shortened totals of seven home runs and 45 RBI in 96 games the White Sox opened the season April 10 at Boston's Fenway Park, Fisk's home the previous 10 seasons in storybook fashion, Fisk fashioned a three-run home run in the eighth inning to power Chicago past the BoSox, 5-3 in his home debut with the White Sox four days later, Fisk added to the drama by slamming a grand slam home run off Pete Vuckovich to boost the Sox to a 9-3 win over Milwaukee in front of a Comiskey Park-record home Opening Day crowd of 51,560 caught more games than any A.L. receiver (95) and had the fewest passed balls (two) in the league the latter passed ball total was lowest for a White Sox catcher since Brian Downing was charged with only one in 1976 Fisk was voted The Sporting News Silver Slugger Award as the most productive receiver in the American League and also was named to the UPI all-star team. 1980: In his final season with Boston, Fisk re-established himself as an everyday catcher following his injury-plagued '79 campaign caught 115 games, fifth highest total in the A.L. led the league with the fewest passed balls (three) for catchers in 100 or more games registered his 1,000th major league hit June 1 against Milwaukee, a home run off Rickey Keeton at Boston. 1977: Tied a major league mark with only four passed balls in 151 games became one of only six catchers in baseball history to score 100 runs and drive in 100 runs in the same season. 1975: Fisk painted one of the great moments in baseball history with his dramatic, game-winning 12th-inning home run in the sixth game of the World Series against Cincinnati at Boston's Fenway Park the homer, for which he supplied body English, has been documented on film and is still being used on the opening segments of network telecasts. 1972: Named A.L. rookie-of-the-year after batting .293 with 22 home runs and 61 RBI also led league catchers in total chances that earned him a Gold Glove Award.

Minor League Highlights: After missing 1967 due to military service, Fisk reached the big leagues for good by the final 14 games of Boston's '71 season hit .338 in his first professional season at Waterloo made brief and initial big league appearance in 1969.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Fisk, wife Linda, and children Carlyn, Casey and Courtney reside in the Chicago area (Lockport) the year round wears no. 72, the reverse of his no. 27 at Boston, because "... that was the year my son Casey was born, it was my rookie year in the majors, and it represents a turnaround in my career..." selected in first round of the 1967 winter free agent draft by Boston most valuable player in baseball, basketball, and soccer at Charlestown (N.H.) High School before attending the University of New Hampshire brother Calvin was a catcher in the Baltimore organization oldest daughter Carlyn was a pre-season all-Illinois selection in volleyball in 1987-88 former Boston outfielder Rick Miller is his brother-in-law Fisk's free agent signing during spring training in 1981 brought instant credibility to the new White Sox ownership group headed by Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn acquired the nickname "Pudge" as a youngster in New England.

Dave LaPoint Pitcher/#38

Given name: David Jeffrey LaPoint. Opening Day age: 28, turns 29 July 29. Born: July 29, 1959, Glens Falls, N.Y. Bats/throws: Left/left. Height/weight: 6-3/231. Major league tenure: Six years, one day. Residence: Glens Falls, N.Y. Contract status: Signed through 1988. Family: Married Cathy Bangs; sons Robert (October 4, 1983) and Thomas James (January 7, 1988). First pro contract: Milwaukee Brewers; selected in 10th round, June, 1977 free agent draft. Major league debut: September 10, 1980 with Milwaukee (at Minnesota). Sox acquisition: Obtained from St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for pitcher Bryce Hultstrom, July 30, 1987.

1987: Opened the season with St. Louis, spent time at "AAA" Louisville, and finished the year with the Sox after being traded for minor league reliever Bryce Hultstrom July 30 was 1-1 with a 6.75 ERA in two separate tours of duty with the Cardinals optioned to Louisville April 27 and returned to St. Louis July 8 remained with Cardinals until traded to ChiSox enjoyed much more success with the White Sox dazzled in his Pale Hose debut August 1, no-hitting the Brewers in Milwaukee for six full innings before yielding a seventh-inning leadoff single to Steve Kiefer a double play erased Kiefer but another single by Bill Schroeder prompted the removal of a tired LaPoint earned the win in that first Sox start and, after a pair of no-decisions, earned his second Sox win August 17 over Boston allowed just six hits and one earned run in seven innings against the Red Sox first White Sox loss came in his next start at Texas August 22 and a loss to Kansas City August 28 evened his slate at 2-2 blanked the Rangers through seven innings on just four hits September 2 in Chicago to raise his record to 3-2 final loss of season came September 7, Labor Day afternoon, at Minnesota LaPoint lasted just three batters and, after retiring the first two Twins' hitters, was struck on his pitching hand by a hard Kirby Puckett grounder he was forced to leave the game and Puckett came around to score the run that put the Twins ahead for good and LaPoint was charged with the tough-luck loss appeared in relief two days later at Minnesota and pitched five innings of one-hit ball but the hit was a game-tying homer by Kirby Puckett made third straight appearance against the Twins September 14 at Comiskey Park and earned an 8-2 win narrowly missed a complete game and allowed just two earned runs on four hits in 8.2 frames the two Twins' tallies came with two outs in the ninth and scored after LaPoint left the game continued to pitch well down the stretch and fired back-to-back complete game victories in his final two starts the first of those two was a career-best two-hit shutout at Oakland September 27 it was just his third career shutout and first since May 5, 1985 with San Francisco followed that with a distance performance in 17-1 Sox smashing of Oakland October 3 at Comiskey Park 4-1 in September/October with a glittering 1.51 ERA finished 6-3 with the Sox with a 2.94 ERA in 14 appearances and 12 starts allowed only seven homers in 82.2 innings and four were solo shots.

Major League Highlights: Has pitched for six different clubs, including a pair of stops at St. Louis, in five full and three partial big league seasons. 1986: Opened the season with Detroit where he was used in both starting and long relief roles earned first Tiger win May 17 against California with seven strong innings beat the Angels again, this time at Anaheim, May 29 and fired hitless ball for the first five frames was 3-6 with a 5.72 ERA with Detroit when traded to San Diego July 9 for pitcher Mark Thurmond appeared in 24 games with the Padres, all but four in relief not tendered a contract by the Padres after the season and signed as a free agent with St. Louis. 1985: Went to the Giants prior to the '85 season in a major trade that sent slugger Jack Clark to St. Louis suffered through the first losing season of his pro career, going 7-17 with the last-place San Francisco Giants led the Giants' staff in starts (31) and innings (206.2) in his 17 losses, the Giants mustered a total of 29 runs, an average of 1.7 per game San Francisco scored three runs or less in 20 of LaPoint's 31 starts highlighting his season was a six-hit, 5-0 blanking of the Cardinals at St. Louis May 5. 1984: Spent the entire season with the Cardinals and was 12-10 with a 3.96 ERA in 33 starts recorded his first big league shutout June 3, blanking the Mets on six hits in the 1-0 win established career highs with 33 starts and 130 strikeouts. 1983: Posted a 12-9 record and tied for staff lead with the dozen wins. 1982: Alternated between starting and relieving for the world champion Cardinals fashioned a 9-3 record and 3.42 ERA his 4-2 win over Montreal September 27 clinched the East Division title for the Cardinals did not pitch in the National League Championship Series versus the Braves no decisions in a pair of appearances (one start) in the World Series against Milwaukee relieved in the eighth inning of game one and was touched for two earned runs on three hits in 1.2 innings in the 10-0 Milwaukee win started game four and was not involved in the final decision in Milwaukee's 7-5 come-from-behind win at County Stadium worked 6.2 innings and allowed four runs (just one earned) on seven hits LaPoint's error (dropping a throw while covering first) opened the door for Milwaukee's six-run seventh that decided the game. 1981: Acquired by the Cardinals the previous winter in major trade that sent pitchers Pete Vuckovich and Rollie Fingers and catcher Ted Simmons to Milwaukee pitcher Lary Sorensen and outfielders Sixto Lezcano and David Green came with LaPoint to St. Louis appeared with the Cardinals in late September after a fine season at "AAA" Springfield 1-0 with one save with the Cards in three appearances (two starts) became the second youngest pitcher (22 years old) to win games in both the National and American Leagues when he recorded his first N.L. win September 27 at Pittsburgh. 1980: Recalled by Milwaukee September 6 and made his major league debut September 10 at Minnesota with three shutout relief innings to earn a save made first big league start September 20 versus Seattle and won an 8-4 decision.

Minor League Highlights: Started professional career at "A" Newark in 1977 after being drafted by the Brewers struck out nine batters in a row in a game versus Geneva that season advanced to "A" Burlington in 1978 and tied for fifth in the Midwest League with 10 complete games pitched at "A" Stockton of the California League in 1979 and led the loop in strikeouts with 208 in 180.0 innings tied for the league lead with 11 complete games and three shutouts posted a fine 3.15 ERA opened the 1980 season at "AAA" Vancouver and was 7-4 with a 2.81 ERA in 17 starts on the disabled list twice with elbow soreness made major league debut with Brewers later that season led the American Association with 129 strikeouts and 24 starts and tied for the league lead with nine complete games at Springfield in 1981 did not return to the minor leagues until his brief stop at "AAA" Louisville in 1987.

Bill Long Pitcher/#47

Given name: William D. Long. Opening Day age: 28. Born: February 29, 1960, Cincinnati, O. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-0/185. Major league tenure: One year, 11 days. Residence: Buffalo, N.Y. Contract status: Signed through 1988. Family: Married Maggie Phelan. First professional contract: San Diego; selected second round, June, 1981 free agent draft. Major league debut: July 21, 1985 with White Sox (vs. Cleveland). Sox acquisition: With infielders Luis Salazar and Ozzie Guillen and pitcher Tim Lollar from San Diego in exchange for pitchers LaMarr Hoyt, Todd Simmons and Kevin Kristan, December 7, 1984.

1987: Opened the season at "AAA" Hawaii and won two starts before being summoned by the Sox April 21 when pitcher Neil Allen was placed on the 15-day disabled list did not pitch for the Sox until May 5, two weeks after having his contract purchased and 20 days after his last Hawaii start the layoff had no ill effects as Long fired a two-hit shutout at the Yankees in Comiskey Park for his first major league victory walked none and struck out five needed to pitch that well as the Sox managed just two hits off New York starter Joe Niekro only one Yankee baserunner reached second base even though Sox manager Jim Fregosi jokingly commented he wanted to put Long on a "20-day rotation," Long started against the Yankees again just one week later at New York Long was effective again, allowing just three earned runs and six hits in 7.2 innings no-decision in the Sox' 5-4, 13-inning loss stayed in rotation as the staff's fifth starter suffered first loss May 26 to K.C. at Comiskey Park notched the only two White Sox wins on a 2-8 road trip through Texas, California and Oakland in early June the 15-5 win at Texas June 2 was the first Sox win at Arlington since 1985 Long fired his second shutout June 7 at California, limiting the Angels to just seven hits with no walks and six strikeouts at that point, Long's record stood at 3-1 with a 2.98 ERA he had struck out 22 batters and walked only four in 45.1 innings dropped next two starts (the Sox were blanked 2-0 in the latter at Seattle June 17) to move his record to 3-3 and Long hovered around the .500 mark the rest of the season never more than one game below the break-even point and never more than two up a win disappeared at Cleveland July 3 when he left after seven innings with an 8-3 lead only to see the Sox bullpen allow six Indian runs in the eighth to give the Tribe a 9-8 lead six Sox runs in the ninth saved a Sox win but Long was left with a no-decision continued his mastery over the Yankees with 7.1 innings of two-hit, shutout relief in 15-inning win at New York July 11 longest winning streak was three (August 2 at Milwaukee, August 21 at Texas, and August 26 at Boston) struck out a career-high nine batters in complete-game win at Texas August 21 earned win over A.L. Cy Young Award winner Roger Clemens at Fenway Park August 26 that win raised his mark to 8-6 and was his final victory of the season earned his first major league save with four innings of one-hit relief September 30 versus California fired five complete games but was the losing pitcher in two of them walked no more than three in any one game and reached that total just twice issued just 28 walks in 169.0 innings, a ratio of just 1.49 walks per nine innings pitched averaged 3.83 strikeouts per nine innings yielded 20 homers but 11 were solo shots.

Major League Highlights: Became the first White Sox pitcher since Richard Dotson in 1979 to fire a complete game shutout for his first major league win when he blanked the Yankees, 2-0, May 5, 1987 at Comiskey Park two of his first three major league victories were shutouts. 1985: Recalled by the Sox July 20 from "AAA" Buffalo and made his big league debut with a start versus Cleveland the following afternoon at Comiskey Park earned no-decision after working five innings and allowing three earned runs on seven hits made two more starts and one relief appearance before returning to Buffalo August 4 only decision came in a loss at Yankee Stadium on national television August 3 finished the short stint with a 10.29 ERA but recorded 13 strikeouts against just five walks in 14.0 innings.

Minor League Highlights: A product of the San Diego farm system spent first professional season at Salem of the Carolina League and tied for second in the loop with three shutouts despite making only 13 starts promoted to "AA" Amarillo of the Texas League in 1982 led that circuit in innings pitched (198) and was third in complete games (nine) made his first "AAA" appearance in '83 with Las Vegas after starting the season at "AA" Beaumont shared the Texas League lead with 14 victories in 1984, was fourth in ERA (2.93) and fifth in strikeouts (114) led the American Association with 13 victories at Buffalo in 1985 won his first five decisions and allowed just three earned runs in his initial 30.2 innings of the season before being slowed by tendonitis in his right shoulder was 10-2 on the road that year with a fine 2.42 ERA compiled a 9-9 record in a full season at Buffalo in 1986 season interrupted May 11 when a line drive off the bat of Iowa's Dave Martinez fractured his jaw returned to action in June record was 3-2 with a 2.57 ERA at the time of his injury after return to action, Long improved his mark at one point to 7-4 but a late-season slump dropped him to his final .500 level managed five complete games in 22 starts and finished with a 3.88 ERA best outing of the year was a seven-inning one-hitter at Indianapolis over the eventual American Association champion Indians April 18 in the first game of a twin bill opened the 1987 season at "AAA" Hawaii but joined the Sox in April.

Miscellaneous/Personal: Acquired by the Sox in the multi-player deal with San Diego that sent LaMarr Hoyt to the Padres and brought 1985 A.L. rookie-of-the-year Ozzie Guillen to Chicago a native of Cincinnati, Long attended and pitched for Miami University in Oxford, O. one of his Miami teammates was current Houston Astro second baseman Bill Doran he and wife Maggie make their permanent home in Buffalo, N.Y., where Long does some off-season work for the "AAA" Bisons who are now affiliated with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

1987: Busy year began as ace starting pitcher for Stanford University season ended with McDowell posting a 3-0 record and 1.93 ERA in four starts with the White Sox in between were a pair of championships for McDowell's clubs led Stanford to the College World Series title in June, earning the victory in the championship game against Oklahoma State June 7 helped the "AA" Birmingham Barons capture the Southern League crown in early September (see details below) made major league debut September 15 against the eventual World Series champion Minnesota Twins at Comiskey Park blanked the Twins on four hits through seven innings and earned a 6-2 victory struck out three and walked none in his very impressive debut followed that baptism with another strong outing in a 5-3 win over Seattle September 20 at Comiskey Park blanked the Mariners for 6.1 innings and did not allow a run to score until Edgar Martinez, the last man McDowell would face, lined a two-run double in the seventh streak of scoreless innings at the start of his major league career reached 13.1 frames third outing was even more impressive but he did not get a decision in Sox' 2-1, 10-inning win at Oakland September 25 with several of his college teammates from nearby Stanford in attendance at the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum, McDowell hurled seven shutout innings and allowed the pennant-contending Athletics just a pair of harmless singles struck out seven and walked three left game with Sox ahead 1-0 but a Mark McGwire ninth-inning home run off reliever Bobby Thigpen took the win away from McDowell earned his third victory in final start of season, a 6-3 verdict over California October 1 at Comiskey Park four-start totals showed 15 strikeouts and only six walks in 28 innings allowed just six earned runs in those 28 frames and one homer that homer, a three-run shot by California's Jack Howell in the fourth inning October 1, temporarily put McDowell and the Sox behind 3-2, the only time McDowell trailed in any of his four starts.

Major League Highlights: See above.

Minor League Highlights: Broke into professional baseball last August at "Rookie" Sarasota after coming to contract terms with the White Sox was 0-1 in two games (one start) in his brief stay at Sarasota promoted to "AA" Birmingham August 13 where he played a role in the Barons' Southern League title run starting and winning pitcher in Birmingham's first opening-round playoff game against Huntsville, a 15-2 decision five hits, two earned runs, eight strikeouts, three walks in six innings in that win no-decision in other post-season appearance versus Charlotte in the championship series (4.2 innings, seven hits, two earned runs, four strikeouts, four walks).

Miscellaneous/Personal: Received national acclaim after leading the Stanford Cardinal to the College World Series title in Omaha, Neb., in early June finished 2-1 in the CWS owned a 13-5 slate for the season, his third at Stanford owned five complete games and one shutout in 20 starts notched 120 strikeouts in 128.2 innings three-year Stanford career record, including two trips to the CWS, was 35-13 with a 3.58 ERA struck out 337 batters in 392.2 innings for a ratio of 7.7 K's per nine innings pitched six collegiate shutouts and 21 complete games in 52 starts six shutouts equalled 27-year-old Pac-10 record by year, McDowell finished 11-4, 4.15 ERA (freshman), 11-4, 2.51 ERA (sophomore) and 13-5, 4.13 ERA (junior) two-time Pacific-10 all-conference selection holds Stanford's career strikeout record of 337, breaking four-year mark of 315 set by Baltimore's Jeff Ballard in three seasons won Stanford's only College World Series victory in 1985, defeating Arizona 9-2 a native of Van Nuys, Calif., McDowell graduated from Notre Dame High School.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

White Sox pitcher Billy Wynne logged his first major league victory at Milwaukee's County Stadium on June 16, 1969 but didn't beat the Brewers or Braves in the process. In 1968 and '69, the Sox played a total of 20 "home games" in the Wisconsin city. Wynne's personal milestone came at the expense of the Seattle Pilots by an 8-3 tally. Ironically, the Pilots became a County Stadium tenant the next season when the team was transferred to Milwaukee in 1970.

Ray Searage Pitcher/#36

Given name (pronunciation): Raymond Mark Searage (SEAR-udge). Opening Day age: 32, turns 33 May 1. Born: May 1, 1955, Freeport, N.Y. Bats/throws: Switch/left. Height/weight: 6-1/180. Major league tenure: Three years, seventy-five days. Residence: St. Petersburg, Fla. Contract status: Signed through 1988. Family: Married Vickie Allen; sons Raymond, Jr. (October 16, 1980) and Ryan (November 23, 1982). First pro contract: St. Louis Cardinals; selected in 22nd round, June, 1976 free agent draft. Major league debut: June 11, 1981 with the New York Mets (vs. Cincinnati). Sox acquisition: Obtained from Milwaukee Brewers for pitcher Al Jones and outfielder Tom Hartley, July 17, 1986.

1987: Spent all but two weeks of the 1987 season with the parent White Sox outrighted to "AAA" Hawaii June 30 but returned to the Sox during the All-Star Game break (July 15) led the Sox staff with 58 appearances and was the lone southpaw in the Sox bullpen for most of the season's second half finished with a 2-3 record and a pair of saves often faced just one or two left-handed hitters longest outing was a five-inning stint (two hits, one unearned run) in his second effort of the year April 11 versus Detroit at Comiskey Park that stands as the longest outing of his major league career extremely effective in the early part of the season, Searage did not allow an earned run in his first 10 appearances and his first 15 innings touched for just two earned tallies in 29 innings with the Sox in 1986 first earned runs allowed in '87 came on a two-out, two-strike, two-run, ninth-inning homer by Baltimore's Eddie Murray at Comiskey Park May 8 that cost the Sox a victory and gave Searage his first loss of the year did not surrender an earned run in his next six outings and dropped his ERA to 0.86 by May 26 touched for a pair of earned runs and the loss in Boston's come-from-behind, 10-9 success over the Sox May 31 at Comiskey Park that misfortune on the last day of May was followed by a poor June when his ERA jumped to 5.04 sent to Hawaii his ERA in June alone was 13.50 pitched well upon his return in mid-July, not surrendering a run in his first eight appearances (8.1 innings) lowered ERA from 5.04 when sent to Hawaii June 30 to 3.88 by September 12 finished season with a 4.20 ERA was 0-1 in three games, including one start, at Hawaii.

Major League Highlights: Has not completed a full season in the big leagues has spent parts of five of the last seven years with big league clubs. 1986: Opened season with Milwaukee, optioned to "AAA" Vancouver after 17 relief outings with the Brewers, and dealt to the White Sox in July for a pair of minor leaguers (reliever Al Jones and outfielder Tom Hartley) joined the Sox July 23 and finished the season as the club's top lefty in the bullpen filled a gap created when southpaw Joel McKeon was stricken with hepatitis made 29 appearances with the Sox and sported an outstanding 0.62 ERA allowed just two earned runs in 29 innings allowed just one unearned run in his first 19 Sox outings over a period of 20.1 innings primarily used as a set-up man and often faced just one or two left-handed hitters in late-inning situations eight times he retired the only man he faced longest outing of Sox season was 3.1 innings versus Detroit August 1 in Chicago was 0-1 in 17 games with Milwaukee only save of year came against the White Sox April 9 at Comiskey Park. 1985: Made 33 relief appearances with the Brewers, then a personal high was 1-4 with one save coming against the White Sox April 24 at Comiskey Park averaged 8.5 strikeouts per nine innings pitched with 36 K's in 38 frames yielded only two homers and none in his final 24.2 innings the one win was registered June 7 against New York extended a scoreless innings streak to 30 early in the year, a skein which started in the latter portion of the '84 season. 1984: Began the year at Vancouver but joined the Brewers August 2 did not allow a run in 12 September outings finished the year with 28 scoreless innings to tie a club mark held by Moose Haas 2-1 with six saves in 21 appearances. 1981: Made major league debut with the Mets and earned his first big league victory and save in 26 outings.

Minor League Highlights: Originally a St. Louis draft choice, broke into pro ball in 1976 with the Cardinals' "Rookie" league affiliate at Sarasota, Fla. moved to "A" ball in 1977 and split his season between Johnson City and St. Petersburg posted eight wins, four saves, and a 2.78 ERA in 39 appearances at Gastonia in 1978 had a career-high 10 wins and a fine 2.22 ERA in 42 relief appearances in 1979 at "AA" Arkansas of the Texas League traded to the New York Mets organization December 10, 1979 for catcher Jody Davis started the '80 season at "AA" Jackson but made first "AAA" appearance at Tidewater and combined for 91 strikeouts in 100 innings at the two stops was 2-0 with a 2.33 ERA and three saves at Tidewater in 1981 before receiving first shot in the major leagues with the Mets swapped to Cleveland prior to the '82 season for shortstop Tom Veryzer spent the '82 campaign at Charleston, W. Va., Cleveland's "AAA" affiliate dealt to San Diego December 15, 1982 Indians reacquired Searage from San Diego March 28, 1983 and he spent another season at Charleston, making a career-high 20 starts and posting a 7-7 record signed with the Brewers as a minor league free agent following the '83 campaign 6-3 with one save in 33 outings at "AAA" Vancouver in '84, primarily used as a middle reliever compiled a 2-0 mark and eight saves in 23 bullpen appearances in '85 at Vancouver also 2-0 with a 1.44 ERA in 20 relief outings at Vancouver in '86 brief three-game stint at "AAA" Hawaii in 1987.

Miscellaneous/Personal: A 22nd-round selection by St. Louis in the June, 1976 free agent draft a native of Freeport, N.Y., Searage graduated from Deer Park (N.Y.) High in 1973 participated in baseball, basketball, and cross country as a prep attended West Liberty State College in West Virginia where he played baseball enjoys scuba diving and fishing and makes his winter home in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Sox lefty Wilbur Wood's knuckleball was unpredictable at best. On September 10, 1977, Wood tied an American League record by beaming three consecutive California Angels to start a game.

Bobby Thigpen

Pitcher/#37

Given name: Robert Thomas Thigpen. Opening Day age: 24, turns 25 July 17. Born: July 17, 1963, Tallahassee, Fla.. Bats/throws: Right/right. Height/weight: 6-3/195. Major league tenure: One year, 21 days. Residence: St. Petersburg, Fla. Contract status: Signed through 1988. Family: Married Keri Keesler. First pro contract: White Sox. Major league debut: August 6, 1986 with White Sox (at Boston). Sox acquisition: Selected fourth round, June, 1985 free agent draft.

1987: Assumed the "closer" role for the Sox in the second half of the season and led the staff with 16 saves while posting an ERA of 2.73 nine of 16 saves came in September/October and his strong finish was one of the keys to the club's late flourish the American League winner of the Rolaids Relief Man Award for the month of September with a 4-1 record and seven saves his point total of 21 (two points for each win and save minus one point for each loss) represented the largest one month Rolaids point total in the A.L. in '87 garnered his 16 saves in 22 opportunities and was successful in 15 of his last 19 chances three wins, one loss, and six saves in his last 10 outings tied for sixth in the league in saves despite not earning his second save until July 31 opened the season with the Sox as a set-up man for late-innings specialist Bob James owned a 2-2 record with one save and a 3.51 ERA when optioned to "AAA" Hawaii May 26 move was made so Thigpen could experiment as a starting pitcher at Hawaii compiled a 2-3 record and 6.15 ERA in nine starts at Hawaii fired a pair of complete games and one shutout returned to Sox during the All-Star Game break (July 15) took over role of "stopper" in late July when James was disabled with a sore right tricep and Jim Winn was sidelined with back spasms allowed just 15 of 49 inherited runners to score and just three of 20 after August 1.

Major League Highlights: Owns nine wins and 23 saves in just 71 major league appearances. 1986: Promoted from "AA" Birmingham to the White Sox August 6 and made his major league debut that night at Boston allowed a pair of earned runs in his first 2.1 innings but did not allow another run in his next 15 outings and his next 28.1 innings the scoreless innings streak was the longest on the Sox staff for the season streak halted at California September 20 when he was touched for a pair of earned runs on four hits in just one inning of work recorded saves in seven consecutive opportunities after not being allowed to finish the game in his first save chance first missed save was the September 20 game at Anaheim that started a streak of four consecutive misses in save situations but he did get credit for the win in his last outing of the year at Minnesota October 2 first major league save came August 17 at Comiskey Park against Milwaukee his first two saves and three of his first four came for Steve Carlton during the lefty's brief stint with the Pale Hose Thigpen's first big league victory was September 12 against California in Chicago with three perfect innings of relief ERA dropped to 0.60 before his streak of scoreless innings ended September 20.

Minor League Highlights: Impressed in his first professional season in 1985, spending the majority of his year at "A" Niagara Falls owned a 2-3 record and a team-high nine saves in 28 appearances made just one start posted a fine 1.72 ERA, best on the club, and struck out 74 batters in just 52.1 innings of work moved to "A" Appleton to help bolster the Foxes' bullpen as they approached the Midwest League playoffs used exclusively as a starter at "AA" Birmingham in 1986, compiling an 8-11 record with a 4.68 ERA in 25 starts recorded 90 strikeouts in 159.2 innings experimented as a starter at "AAA" Hawaii for a short time in 1987 was 2-3 in nine starts with a 6.15 ERA.

Miscellaneous /Personal: The White Sox' fourth selection in the June, 1985 free agent draft played college baseball at Mississippi State where he was primarily an outfielder in addition to spot pitching duty helped the Bulldogs reach the College World Series in 1985 played collegiately with San Francisco's Will Clark and the Cubs' Rafael Palmeiro.

1987: Second on Sox pitching staff with 56 appearances and third among relievers with six saves career highs in both categories in his second full big league season two saves each against Cleveland and New York and earned two of his four wins versus Boston suffered three of his six losses at Minnesota, two coming on ninth-inning leadoff home runs by Twins' catcher Tim Laudner (June 19 and September 9) first American League save came in Sox' 7-1 win over Milwaukee April 21 at Comiskey Park that ended the Brewers' major league record-tying streak of 13 victories to start the season rough A.L. debut for Winn as he was touched for five earned runs and nine hits in his first two appearances over a stretch of 4.1 innings settled down after that inauspicious start, allowing just three earned runs on 11 hits in 14.1 innings in his next nine outings touched for four earned runs in one inning by Texas May 16 at Chicago but then reeled off a stretch of eight outings where he allowed just three earned runs in 14.2 innings also posted a 2-0 record in that eight-game period suffered three of six 1987 losses in consecutive appearances June 16 at Seattle and June 19 and 21 at Minnesota assumed role of "closer" right after the All-Star Game break when short man Bob James was sidelined with an arm problem reeled off four saves in five outings from July 18 through July 25, two each over Cleveland and New York, all at Comiskey Park back spasms then felled Winn and he did not pitch again until August 7 no more saves the rest of the season and just five opportunities as Bobby Thigpen emerged as the Sox' short man after a poor August (11.68 ERA), Winn pitched well in September/October with a 2.57 ERA in 14 innings pitched.

Major League Highlights: Twenty-one of 28 career decisions and five of 10 career saves have come on the road. 1986: Appeared in 50 games (three starts) in his first full season in the majors was 3-3 with a 3.08 ERA and three saves in 47 relief outings (25 earned runs, 73 innings pitched) fanned 70 in 88 innings for an average of 7.2 strikeouts per nine innings pitched twice struck out five in one game, a career high (June 16 vs. St. Louis and August 15 at Philadelphia). 1985: Earned promotion to Pittsburgh from "AAA" Hawaii May 21 and remained with Bucs for the rest of the campaign made first major league start May 24 at Atlanta and defeated Braves, 4-2 (seven innings, three hits, two earned runs, two walks, two strikeouts) that is the longest outing of Winn's career first five appearances after recall were starts but 23 of final 25 outings came in relief 2-2 with a 4.08 ERA in seven starts and 1-4 with a 6.50 ERA in 23 bullpen outings pitched 5.1 shutout innings in his longest career relief outing October 6 at Philadelphia string of 49 innings without allowing a home run between June 4 and September 29 lost a career-long four straight decisions from June 21 through August 12. 1984: Began season with Hawaii but was recalled by the Pirates July 13 registered first major league victory July 22 in relief in the second game of a twin bill versus San Diego first big league save came September 19 at Chicago with four scoreless innings. 1983: Made Pirates' Opening Day roster after an impressive showing as a non-roster invitee in spring training converted from a starter to reliever during spring camp had been a starter throughout his pro career to that point big league debut came April 10 at Houston with two scoreless innings optioned to Hawaii May 26 and spent rest of the season there it was his first action at the "AAA" level.

Minor League Highlights: Began pro career at "Rookie" Bradenton after being the 14th player selected in the June, 1981 free agent draft started just one game for Bradenton and was quickly promoted to "AA" Buffalo of the Eastern League where he was 2-5 in 12 starts split the 1982 season between Buffalo and "A" Alexandria of the Carolina League before making the Pirates' staff to start the '83 season just nine starts in '82 due to elbow and lower back problems was 6-1 in 21 relief appearances at Hawaii in '84 before moving up to the Pirates owned a 5-2 mark in seven starts at Hawaii in '85 before earning his promotion to the Bucs.

Miscellaneous/Personal: A standout at John Brown University in Siloam Springs, Arkansas, compiling a three-year record of 27-9 was 10-2 in 1981 when he led John Brown to the NAIA World Series spent much of his youth in southern California before his family moved to Missouri still makes his home in Missouri (Springfield) has played winter ball in Venezuela, the Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico during his pro career but did not play this past winter came to the Sox in a late spring training deal in March, 1987 in exchange for a player to be named later (outfielder John Cangelosi).

White Sox Hall of Fame catcher Ray Schalk caught four no-hitters during his career, a major league record. Schalk was on the receiving end of no-hit games pitched by Jim Scott and Joe Benz in 1914, Eddie Cicotte in 1917, and Charley Robertson in 1922. The latter was a perfect game. Current White Sox radio broadcaster Del Crandall is co-holder of the National League record. He was behind the plate for three no-hitters.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

White Sox right-hander LaMarr Hoyt holds the distinction of winning the Cy Young Award with the highest earned run average. Hoyt won the A.L.'s honor as the league's top pitcher in 1983, posting a 2.41 ERA. The ERA ranked 17th in the league among pitchers working enough innings to qualify for the ERA title. Only two other Cy Young Award winners who qualified for the ERA crown failed to finish in the top 10 of their league ERA races. Both instances occurred in 1967 when Jim Lonborg of Boston captured the A.L. Cy Young Award with a 3.16 ERA, the 18th-best mark in the league, and Mike McCormick of the San Francisco Giants took the N.L. Cy Young trophy with a 2.85 ERA, the 16th-best figure in the league.

HISTORY

The 1940s version of the current White Sox uniform also sported script White Sox on the jersey and a "C" on the cap.

FRANCHISE HISTORY

Charles Comiskey and Chicago.

First the father, then the son, then the grandson made marks on the city's rich history.

The family initially settled in Chicago in 1848. John Comiskey distinguished himself in municipal government, first as clerk of the County Board, then as an alderman in the old 10th Ward. He apprenticed his son Charles to a plumber, believing it was the right and true path for a young man of strong physical capability.

But the boy had other ideas.

After knocking around the semi-professional baseball leagues of the Midwest for several years playing for "social-athletic" club teams with names like the Excelsiors, Aetnas, Libertys, and Pastimes, young Charles "Old Roman" Comiskey took over first base duties for the St. Louis Browns of the renegade American Association, the upstart circuit challenging the National League for baseball supremacy in the 1880s. In 1886, "Commy" defeated the Chicago White Stockings (now known as the Cubs) four games to two in the forerunner of the modern World Series.

The American League's Birth

Comiskey returned to minor league baseball following the demise of the short-lived Players League in 1890. The American League actually began operation on November 21, 1893 as the Western League. Its member teams came from Sioux City, Toledo, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Indianapolis, and Milwaukee.

At the behest of the league's dynamic young president, Byron Bancroft Johnson, Comiskey purchased the Sioux City franchise in 1894 and moved it to St. Paul. As the league continued to prosper, secret plans were drawn to incorporate as a second major league. Ironically, James Hart, owner of the Chicago White Stockings, petitioned the Western League for a Chicago franchise in 1894. Hart was denied because Johnson did not want to surrender this lucrative market to the National League team which planned to use the club as a "farm."

In 1900, the Western League changed its name to the more grandiose American League. The St. Paul Saints, who had finished in the first division in four of the five years of Comiskey's stewardship, were transferred to Chicago on March 21, 1900. In return for Hart's grudging acceptance, the new Chicago team agreed to locate on the South Side and refrain from using the city's name in its dealings.

Sportswriters began calling the club White Stockings and the small wooden ball park at 39th and Wentworth became a popular gathering place for fans desiring to watch rough-and-tumble baseball free of the National League's internal politics and backbiting.

The Sox coasted to their first pennant in 1900, thanks to the spirited play of "Dummy" Hoy, Frank Isbell, Dick Padden, and Roy Patterson. It was Patterson, the "Boy Wonder," who won the first "official" game in 1901 when the American League broke away from the National agreement and declared itself professional. That year, the Sox won their second consecutive pennant—the first "official" American League pennant—with a host of ex-National Leaguers, including Clark Griffith who doubled as player-manager.

In just two years, Comiskey had upstaged his powerful crosstown rivals. Despite repeated requests for an intra-city series to determine bragging rights, the Nationals refused.

For the record, the Sox played their first game April 21, 1900, a 5-4 loss to Milwaukee. The next day, the Sox posted their first victory, a 5-3 success also over Milwaukee.

The City Series

The City Series finally began in 1903 and the surprising Sox played the Cubs to a 14-game draw despite the cries of "fix" by Hart. He claimed his pitcher, Jack Taylor, had thrown games to the Sox, an unsubstantiated charge especially after 1906 when the Sox downed the Cubs in the city's only all-Chicago World Series. Comiskey later recalled that this 1903 series split was personally more satisfying than the 1906 world championship.

There were many interesting "firsts" by the White Sox in the early years. Herm McFarland and Hoy hit grand slam home runs in the same game, May 1, 1901, becoming the first American League batters to hit grand slams. The Sox have not hit two or more grand slam homers in the same game since!

Jim Callahan, later to become manager of the White Sox, pitched the club's first no-hitter, September 20, 1902, beating Detroit 3-0.

Fielder Jones, perhaps the greatest of all Sox managers, led the club from 1904-08. Credited with inventing the "motion infield" and the "body twist slide," the fiery skipper guided admittedly weak-hitting teams to first division finishes that remained in doubt until the final week of the season in each of those years. It was called the "Hitless Wonder" era.

After Jones departed in 1909, the Sox sunk into a lethargic period of .500 baseball, remembered mostly for the pitching of Edward Augustine Walsh, the spitballer out of the Pennsylvania coal fields.

It was also during this period—July 1, 1910 to be exact—that the Sox moved into Comiskey Park, four blocks north of the 39th Street grounds.

Success, Then Scandal

In 1915, Comiskey finally provided his managers talent. The contracts of Eddie Collins, "Shoeless" Joe Jackson, Lefty Williams, "Hap" Felsch, and Eddie Murphy were purchased at great cost. In the process, probably one of baseball's greatest teams was being assembled. Ray Schalk later claimed if the team had remained together, it is likely the history of baseball in the 1920s would have been rewritten.

But the 1919 White Sox made history of another kind off the field. Several members of that club were charged with conspiring with gamblers to lose the 1919 World Series, a scandal not uncovered until the end of the 1920 season.

Although acquitted in a court of law by a jury of their peers, eight players were "convicted" by the baseball establishment and eventually expelled from baseball for life.

The scandal had far-reaching effects on the club's fortunes for an extended period.

After the World Series championship of 1917 and the heartbreak of the 1919 "Black Sox" scandal, Comiskey opened his checkbook once again, bringing such stars as Harry Hooper, Willie Kamm, Bibb Falk, and Bill Cissell to the Sox. Their talents could not stave off a series of second-division finishes that dampened Comiskey's spirits, hastening a physical collapse.

Broken-hearted and disillusioned, Charles Comiskey passed away in October of 1931, leaving the club's day-to-day operation in the hands of his only son, J. Louis, and his long-time general manager, Harry Grabiner.

The same year, Lou Comiskey drew secret plans to rebuild the tattered remnants of a once-proud team. Al Simmons, Mule Haas, and Jimmy Dykes were purchased from the A's in 1932.

It was also in the 1930s that the Sox developed their first farm system, and by 1935, results were obvious. Luke Appling, Rip Radcliff, Monty Stratton, and others lifted the Sox to the .500 mark in 1935 and a solid third-place finish the next two years.

However, three events returned the club to its familiar losing ways by 1942: The sudden death of J. Lou Comiskey in 1939, Stratton's career-ending injury, and the impact of World War II proved disastrous.

Minus the calming presence of J. Lou, the Sox front office struggles magnified the larger failures on the field. Grabiner left for Cleveland in 1945 after a falling out with Grace Comiskey, promising youngsters were not to be found, and by 1948, the Sox were losing 100 games again.

Enter Chuck Comiskey, the Old Roman's grandson, Frank Lane, and Paul Richards. The three architects of the White Sox glory years of the 1950s were largely unknown in 1949. The gambling front office trio, with nothing to lose, masterminded a series of bold trades that helped usher in the "Go-Go" era. The familiar cry of "C'mon Luke" was replaced with the now-famous "Go-Go" chant that encouraged such base thieves as Luis Aparicio, Jim Landis, and "Jungle" Jim Rivera. Nellie Fox, Billy Pierce, and Sherm Lollar provided the firepower and the pitching.

So, by 1959 with Al Lopez at the helm, the Sox ended a 40-year pennant drought with their fourth appearance in the World Series.

A front office rift that year brought Bill Veeck to Chicago. Despite the pennant and the excitement generated by "Barnum Bill," the Sox lapsed into fourth place by 1961.

Veeck bargained away the farm system with the hopes of repeating his 1959 success with a veteran ball club. Ill health forced him into a premature retirement in 1961. His long-term business associate, Arthur Allyn, Jr., purchased controlling interest in the club, adding the Sox to a list of companies under the Artnell Corporation umbrella. A few noteworthy player moves in 1963 by new general manager Ed Short lifted the Sox into the upper strata of the 10-team league. But the success was short-lived.

Lopez retired in 1965. His successor, Eddie Stanky, kept the Pale Hose in the thick of things, but his strict regimens were out of sync by the late 1960s. The inevitable collapse occurred in 1968 and Stanky was fired midway through the season. Lopez resurfaced again, but the farm system remained unproductive and the team could not regroup to salvage the season.

The years 1968-70 were annus of struggle for a franchise with more than its share of misfortune. The low-water mark came during the dismal 1970 campaign when the ChiSox recorded the worst won-loss record in baseball (56-106) and season attendance plunged to its lowest ebb since 1942 (496,355). Bill Melton, Carlos May, Walt Williams, and Wilbur Wood provided a few sanguine moments, but it seemed the only rumors concerning the Sox centered around their expected move to Milwaukee.

Revival

John Allyn saved the Sox from that fate when he bought his brother's interests late in 1969. A new regime signaled yet another upswing in fortunes. Chuck Tanner was hired as field manager; Roland Hemond arrived from the California Angels' farm system as director of player personnel. Nineteen seventy-one brought a rebirth of fan interest. Bill Melton, Wilbur Wood, Carlos May, and company landed in third place and indeed the future seemed rosy.

Dick Allen's arrival in 1972 turned a respectable young club into a contending young club. Allen not only belted 37 home runs to set a White Sox single-season record, he also led the A.L. in home runs, runs batted in (113), and slugging percentage (.603) en route to the league's most valuable player award. Tanner was named manager-of-the-year and Hemond major league executive-of-the-year. To nobody's surprise, the Sox drew a million paying customers for the first time in seven years.

The team stagnated in the next three seasons as old controversies surrounding the mysterious Allen surfaced again.

The team's fortunes during this period paralleled the economy of the 1970s—sluggish! John Allyn was dedicated to bringing home a winner but he was out of money and options by 1975. To his credit, he resisted offers to shift the franchise to Seattle and only an 11th-hour deal with Veeck saved the franchise from yet another demise.

Sox fans owe a debt of gratitude to Veeck, but he was financially ill-equipped to run a baseball team in the high-stakes era of free agency. One glorious summer in 1977 proved to be an illusion. Veeck turned to his now-famous "rent-a-player" scheme. Hall of Fame pitcher Bob Lemon managed the Sox, stocked with one-year free agents Oscar Gamble and Rickie Zisk, to a third-place finish in the A.L. West Division. The slugging White Sox, the club's most potent team since the early 1970s, pounded 192 homers led by Gamble (31), Zisk (30), and Eric Soderholm (25).

Today

By 1980, the Sox were placed on the market again. This time there were interested buyers. When the league denied a bid by Edward DeBartolo of Youngstown, O., Veeck sold his interests to a group of investors headed by Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn, the former a prominent Chicago businessman, the latter an ex-executive of CBS Sports.

The duo rebuilt the Sox in a relatively short period of time with imagination and daring. Carlton Fisk and Greg Luzinski, newly-signed free agents, provided immediate credibility while younger players like Harold Baines developed. Further credibility followed not only with improvement of the team's personnel but with the money the new ownership poured into modernizing and improving venerable Comiskey Park, the nation's oldest active ball park.

In 1983, the Sox won the A.L. West Division by a record 20 games. With the exception of a hard-core nucleus developed during the Veeck era, none of the players had been around during the forgettable days of the late 1970s.

The revelry of 1983 was followed by three roller coaster seasons. The 74-88 letdown of 1984 was a shocker to most after the ease of the 1983 division title. A bold off-season trade sent '83 Cy Young Award-winning pitcher LaMarr Hoyt to San Diego for soon-to-be American League rookie-of-the-year short-stop Ozzie Guillen.

With Guillen's sparkle, the Sox rebounded in 1985 with an 85-77 slate.

Yet another controversial, sometimes stormy, chapter in White Sox history lay ahead. In another unexpected move, Hemond was replaced with Sox broadcaster Ken "Hawk" Harrelson at the tail end of the 1985 season. The flamboyant Harrelson instituted a number of organizational changes and became the talk of baseball in his uncharacteristic new front office role. Included among Harrelson's legacy was the mid-season dismissal of manager Tony LaRussa in favor of Jim Fregosi.

The Harrelson era was short-lived, though, when former California player development head Larry Himes replaced Harrelson shortly after the turbulent, rumor-filled 72-90 campaign of 1986.

The organization-minded Himes immediately placed emphasis on development of the White Sox farm system. His early trades at the major league level also placed a premium on young talent and the White Sox responded to show a five-game improvement in 1987..

Despite its controversy, 1986 eventually will be remembered as the year the White Sox fortified their often tenuous standing in Chicago when the Illinois General Assembly approved legislation to fund development and construction of a new stadium across the street from Comiskey Park.

SIGNIFICANT DATES

March 21, 1900	An agreement is signed which lands the St. Paul franchise of the Western League in Chicago as a charter member of the newly-christened American League.
April 21, 1900	The Chicago White Sox play their first game in a small wooden ball park located at 39th and Princeton. The Sox lose to Milwaukee 5-4.
September 12, 1900	The White Sox clinch the 1900 pennant by defeating the Cleveland Blues 12-4 in Chicago.
April 24, 1901	The first "official" American League game is played in Chicago with Roy Patterson defeating Cleveland 8-2. Previously, the American League was considered a "minor" league.
September 21, 1901	Even though they lose at Philadelphia, the White Sox win their second consecutive pennant. Chicago plays a team of A.L. all-stars, led by Nap Lajoie, in the post-season "All-American Series." The White Sox split the four games.
June 9, 1903	The White Sox are incorporated under Illinois law with $5,000 capital.
June 25, 1904	Felder Jones replaces Jimmy Callahan as manager.
August 23, 1906	The White Sox win their 19th successive game, downing the Washington Senators 4-1 behind pitcher Roy Patterson.
October 14, 1906	The Sox claim the only all-Chicago World Series, defeating the Cubs 8-3 in the finale to win four of the six meetings.
October 5, 1908	Ed Walsh wins his 40th game of the season, downing Detroit 6-1. His win total remains a Chicago single-season record.
January 19, 1909	Charles Comiskey purchases a tract of land near the corner of 35th and Shields from Roxanna Bowen, a descendant of former Chicago Mayor John Wentworth. Later that year, architect Zachary Taylor Davis is commissioned to design a spacious ball park for the White Sox on the site.
March 17, 1910	The cornerstone of Comiskey Park is laid on St. Patrick's Day.
July 1, 1910	Comiskey Park opens to a packed house but the Sox lose to St. Louis 2-0.
November 13, 1913	The White Sox and New York Giants begin a celebrated world-wide tour which is highlighted by a special exhibition game before King George of England.
August 20, 1915	The contract of "Shoeless" Joe Jackson is purchased from Cleveland for $31,500.
September 29, 1917	The White Sox defeat the New York Yankees to win their 100th game of the season, a feat unmatched in club history.
October 15, 1917	Chicago wins its second (and last) World Series title by defeating the New York Giants 4-2.
September 30, 1920	Eight White Sox players are suspended by Charles Comiskey for their part in the 1919 World Series fix. The "Black Sox" are later acquitted in a court of law but were banned from baseball for life by Commissioner Landis.
April 30, 1922	Rookie pitcher Charlie Robertson hurls a perfect game at Detroit.
July 2, 1923	Future Hall of Fame pitcher Ted Lyons, fresh off the campus of Baylor University, makes his White Sox debut.

April 20, 1927	The newly-expanded Comiskey Park reopens but the Sox lose to Cleveland 5-4. The new outfield upper deck accommodates 23,200 additional fans.
September 10, 1930	Rookie shortstop Luke Appling, destined for the Hall of Fame, makes his major league debut, collecting one single in four at bats against Boston.
October 26, 1931	Charles Comiskey dies at his summer resort at Eagle River, Wisconsin, leaving an estate valued at $1,529,707 to his son J. Louis.
September 28, 1932	J. Louis Comiskey attempts to rebuild the White Sox by purchasing Jimmy Dykes, Al Simmons, and Mule Haas from the A's for $150,000.
May 15, 1934	Jimmy Dykes replaces Lew Fonseca as Sox manager.
July 18, 1939	J. Louis Comiskey dies at the age of 56 at the same Wisconsin resort that his father resided in at the time of his death.
August 14, 1939	The first night game is played in Chicago at Comiskey Park. The Sox prevail over the Browns by a 5-2 score.
February 29, 1940	A federal judge awards Grace Comiskey, J. Lou's widow, her dower rights and denies the First National Bank of Chicago a petition to seek outside bids to sell the White Sox.
March 4, 1941	Grace Comiskey is elected team president and her daughter, Dorothy Rigney, is appointed secretary.
July 18, 1948	Pat Seerey slugs four home runs in one game at Philadelphia.
October 8, 1948	Frank Lane replaces Les O'Connor as White Sox general manager.
October 1, 1950	Luke Appling collects his final hit in an illustrious career that spans 20 seasons and 2,422 games, all in a White Sox uniform.
1951	The "Go Go" era of White Sox baseball dawns as the club draws over one million customers for the first time. In May, the team wins 14 consecutive games.
April 23, 1955	The Sox establish numerous club offensive records that have yet to be broken, defeating the A's 29-6 at Kansas City on a rainy, cool day.
December 16, 1955	Following the announcement of general manager Frank Lane's resignation, Chuck Comiskey, grandson of the "Old Roman," and John Dungan Rigney are elevated to vice-presidents.
October 29, 1956	Al Lopez replaces Marty Marion as manager.
December 10, 1956	The "grand lady of baseball," Grace Comiskey, dies. Controlling interest in the White Sox is retained by her daughter, Dorothy.
December 20, 1958	Bill Veeck secures a 60-day option to purchase Dorothy's 54 percent of the team's stock.
March 7, 1959	Bill Veeck and his partners gain majority control of the White Sox after a lengthy court battle with the Comiskey heirs.
September 22, 1959	The Sox end a 40-year pennant drought by clinching the American League title at Cleveland. The flag is won on the strength of pitching, defense, and speed, all hallmarks of the "Go Go" era.
June 10, 1961	Due to failing health and other considerations, Bill Veeck sells his White Sox holdings to his former business associate, Arthur Allyn, Jr. A year later, Chuck Comiskey sells his minority interest in the team to Allyn.

- 1963 Allyn announces his intention to build a private club, called the Coach and Nine, across the street from Comiskey Park. Later, he seeks assistance from business groups to finance a new domed stadium south of Chicago's Loop. However, both projects are doomed to failure.
- 1968-69 To bolster sagging attendance, the White Sox play "home" games at County Stadium in Milwaukee against each A.L. opponent.
- September 24, 1969 Arthur Allyn, Jr. sells the White Sox to his brother, John, thereby ensuring continuity of the franchise in Chicago.
- September 2, 1970 Following their worst season in history, general manager Stu Holcomb hires Roland Hemond to rebuild the franchise.
- September 30, 1971 Bill Melton becomes the first Sox player to win the A.L. home run title when he connects against Milwaukee's Bill Parsons on the last day of the season, Melton's 33rd round-tripper of the campaign.
- December 10, 1975 The American League owners reverse their former position and accept Bill Veeck's bid to purchase the White Sox from John Allyn.
- 1977 The White Sox set an attendance record as the club records a record 192 home runs. The '77 Sox eventually are affectionately dubbed the "South Side Hit-men."
- July 12, 1979 Bill Veeck's celebrated "Disco Demolition Night" results in a forfeit to the Detroit Tigers.
- August 2, 1979 Tony La Russa replaces Don Kessinger as manager.
- August 22, 1980 Bill Veeck agrees to sell the White Sox to Edward DeBartolo of Youngstown, Ohio but the league denies the sale because of DeBartolo's racing holdings.
- January 29, 1981 Jerry Reinsdorf in concert with friend, business associate, and law school classmate Eddie Einhorn head a group that purchases the club from Bill Veeck.
- July 6, 1983 Comiskey Park plays host to the golden anniversary All-Star Game 50 years to the day the initial mid-summer classic also was held at Comiskey Park.
- September 17, 1983 The Sox clinch the A.L. West Division title at Comiskey Park against Seattle, winning the division by a whopping 20 games, a major league record. A Chicago city attendance record is established as the team surpasses two million fans.
- May 10, 1984 The Sox win the longest game in American League history 5-4 against Milwaukee at Comiskey Park. Harold Baines ends the two-day, 25-inning marathon with a home run.
- July 1, 1985 The 75th anniversary of Comiskey Park, the nation's oldest ball park, is celebrated.
- December 5, 1986 The Illinois General Assembly passes funding legislation to build a new home for the White Sox across the street from Comiskey Park.
- October, 1987 Illinois State Senate confirms four gubernatorial appointees to the Illinois Sports Facility Authority. The vote, in concert with the three previous mayoral appointments, finalizes formation of the body charged with the development of the new White Sox stadium.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

Sox Hall of Fame catcher Ray Schalk once picked three Cleveland Indian runners—Charlie Jamieson, Joe Wood, and Elmer Smith—off first base in one inning. The date was September 30, 1921 but the White Sox lost the game 3-2.

Sox Series Highlights: The most infamous World Series in baseball history due to charges the White Sox "threw" the outcome to gamblers, prompting the "Black Sox" label.... nevertheless, "Shoeless" Joe Jackson led all hitters with a .375 average, including a home run, the second in Sox post-season play history.... other Black Sox who played nothing like losers included Buck Weaver (.324) and Ed Cicotte (2.91 ERA).... Chick Gandil drove home the winning run in the 10th inning of game six to make a winner of Dickie Kerr, his second World Series victory.

1959 World Series

Chicago	000	000	400	—	4	10	3	Loser: Staley
Los Angeles	004	000	01x	—	5	9	0	Winner: Sherry

Game Five, October 6 at the L.A. Coliseum

Chicago	000	100	000	—	1	5	0	Winner: Shaw
Los Angeles	000	000	000	—	0	9	0	Loser: Koufax

Game Six, October 8 at Comiskey Park

Los Angeles	002	600	001	—	9	13	0	Winner: Sherry
Chicago	000	300	000	—	3	6	1	Loser: Wynn

Sox Series Highlights: Ted Kluszewski smashed three home runs, two in the first game.... Sherm Lollar contributed another.... Jim Rivera's back-to-the-plate catch in the fifth game saved the day for the Sox who scored their only run on a double play.... the fifth game was witnessed by 92,706 fans, a record unlikely to be broken.... the Sox running game was stymied by the Dodgers, registering just two stolen bases in the Series.

1983 ALCS

Game One, October 5 at Memorial Stadium

Chicago	001	001	000	—	2	7	0	Winner: Hoyt
Baltimore	000	000	001	—	1	5	0	Loser: McGregor

Game Two, October 6 at Memorial Stadium

Chicago	000	000	000	—	0	5	2	Loser: Bannister
Baltimore	010	102	00x	—	4	6	0	Winner: Boddicker

Game Three, October 7 at Comiskey Park

Baltimore	310	020	014	—	11	8	1	Winner: Flanagan
Chicago	010	000	000	—	1	6	1	Loser: Dotson

Game Four, October 8 at Comiskey Park

Baltimore	000	000	000	3	—	3	9	0	Winner: T. Martinez
Chicago	000	000	000	0	—	0	10	0	Loser: Burns

Sox ALCS Highlights: Rudy Law paced the Sox offense with a .389 average.... eventual Cy Young Award winner LaMarr Hoyt opened the series by hurling a masterpiece at Baltimore, allowing five hits and no walks while striking out four in his complete-game victory.... Dennis Lamp began a personal string of scoreless innings that extended into the 1985 ALCS, tossing three scoreless frames.... Britt Burns' heart-rendering performance in the last game is wasted.

COMISKEY PARK

The date was July 1, 1910, a little more than 10 years after Charles Albert "Old Roman" Comiskey had brought his baseball team to Chicago from St. Paul.

Comiskey was so nervous about the opening of his new ball park, christened the "Baseball Palace of the World" that warm mid-summer afternoon, he didn't attend, deferring to his Irish superstitions.

The gala opening, however, was staged without him. A motorcade from Chicago's Loop to the near-South Side ball park preceded the festivities attended by Mayor Fred Busse, C. C. Spink, publisher of The Sporting News, Garry Herrmann of the National Commission, Amos Alonzo Stagg, and Charles Murphy of the crosstown rival Cubs.

It was a banner day for Comiskey even though his White Sox lost 2-0 despite the fine pitching of future Hall of Famer Ed Walsh.

Thirty-Ninth Street Grounds

Comiskey, with limited working capital, purchased the former home of the Chicago Wanderers, a cricket team that had abandoned the park. When Comiskey surveyed the 39th Street grounds early in 1900, he found nothing more than an empty field overgrown with weeds and garbage.

The very day the Sox played their first home game in Chicago, workmen still were applying the final coat of paint to the wooden grandstand.

The Sox remained in this tiny edifice at 39th Street and Princeton for nine and one-half years. In 1902, the grandstand was enlarged with an overhanging roof installed. But even in its heyday, the park seated no more than 5,000 spectators. Overflow crowds convinced Comiskey to seek a new, more spacious home.

Thirty-Fifth and Shields

In 1909, Comiskey purchased a tract of ground from the estate of former Mayor John Wentworth four blocks north of the 39th Street grounds. The selection of this property was neither coincidental nor haphazard.

In 1890, Comiskey played for the Chicago Pirates of the Player's League on that site in a park that long since had been razed. The fact that the Wentworth Avenue streetcar line ran adjacent to the property was not lost on the "Old Roman." Comiskey anticipated drawing fans from the north and west sides, not realizing his real constituency was the neighborhood people who resided in the ethnic South Side wards of Chicago.

For several months following the close of the 1909 season, Walsh and architect Zachary Taylor Davis toured American stadiums to draw from the experiences of developers and players alike. Comiskey Park, in all its symmetrical forms, is a hybrid of ideas.

Davis envisioned a park designed along classical lines consistent with Daniel Burnham's Chicago Plan. His ideas were modified by Comiskey, who favored a more functional approach. The park's eventual spacious contours—352 feet down the foul lines, 420 feet to straightaway center field—no doubt were influenced by Walsh.

The old 39th Street grounds eventually were leased to the American Giants, a Negro League team operated by Frank Leland. Renamed Schorling Park, it remained such until a fire destroyed the grandstand in 1940. A housing project was constructed on the site a decade later.

The new Comiskey Park, anointed White Sox Park at first, featured an abundance of 25-cent seats because the Old Roman wanted to insure that even his poorest fans could afford a decent ticket. There were immediate problems for the security people, not to mention the great crush of fans unable to get in for the big events like Frank Chance Day when over 35,000 admirers gathered to honor the "Peerless Leader" who was managing the New York Yankees. A section of grandstand collapsed that day, May 17, 1913, an early indication that a single-decked grandstand was too small.

Growth

The climate of the times dictated more changes in the 1920s. The popularity of the Yankees, Washington Senators, and Connie Mack's Philadelphia A's led to more crowd problems and incidents of ticket scalping. Because Americans were spending more for entertainment, an upper deck grandstand was installed prior to the 1927 season. The stadium became completely enclosed except for an open portion of center field. The scoreboard, which had stood in right field toward center, was transferred to the right and left field walls.

Comiskey Park had undertaken a familiar appearance, one that would last in one form or another until the present day.

During this era, the Comiskays ran a bottling plant underneath the first base seats. Here, J. Lou Comiskey learned the baseball business. Following his famous father's death in 1931, Lou undertook the club's day-to-day operation. Because of his large girth, a special elevator was constructed for him along the third base side. The old elevator, with its quaint inlaid tile floor, remained in use until 1982.

Face Lifts

Several attempts to change Comiskey Park's reputation as a pitcher's paradise have been made periodically since 1934 when the infield was moved 14 feet closer to the wall to accommodate Al Simmons. "Bucketfoot Al" didn't like the old park very much and when he was traded, the plate was moved back again to its original location.

Later, inside fences in left and right field were installed in 1949 and again in 1969-70. An inside fence in center field, reducing the distance to home plate from a cavernous 440 feet to a more conventional 400 feet, was erected in 1949, removed in 1976, and reinstalled for the 1981 season.

To their credit, Bill Melton (1971) and Dick Allen (1972) won their American League home run crowns with the park's basic 1927 dimensions.

In 1983, new (and current) ownership moved home plate forward again, and the increase in home runs was dramatic. With the plate eight feet closer to the outfield, 19 home runs reached Comiskey Park's roof from 1983-85. In contrast, the previous 21 "roofshots" were logged over a span of 51 years. The plate was returned to its original location following the 1985 season and just two "roofshots"—one each season—have occurred since.

Through it all, Comiskey Park has retained its unique but sometimes overlooked charm. In the 1930s when there was little to cheer about on and off the field, Sox fans always pointed to their 35th Street "shrine" with a degree of pride.

The first free-standing scoreboard was constructed in center field in 1950. Ten years later, owner Bill Veeck added fireworks and through the 1960s the board was nicknamed "The Monster."

During Veeck's first stewardship, the picnic area was built into the outfield walls and a spacious press box for Chicago Cardinal football was added along the third base line in the upper deck.

Infield astroturf was an idea belonging to owner Arthur Allyn. It lasted from 1969 until Veeck's second coming in 1976. The 1960s were a time of experimentation and innovation. For a short time, the "Dugout Cafe" under home plate was serviced by "Soxettes" who served corned beef sandwiches and beer to hungry patrons.

Veeck restored the natural grass and whitewashed the outside of the park, covering Comiskey's legendary brick. Veeck's efforts to maintain the decaying, aging facility proved costly. The tandem of Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn, the current owners, continued to beautify the park and modernize its appearance by replacing a number of uncomfortable wooden seats, installing a Diamond Vision scoreboard in 1982, modern dugouts, and new auxiliary scoreboards. Supersuites were built for corporate clients in 1983.

That's Entertainment

By the time Comiskey Park celebrated its 75th anniversary in 1985 to continue its reign as the "grandam" of American stadia, the park already had experienced three World Series (four if the Cubs' use of the park in 1918 is counted) and three All-Star games.

Comiskey Park, the oldest ball park in the nation, has been home to the Chicago White Sox since 1910. Three All-Star Games, including the inaugural in 1933 and the golden anniversary contest (pictured) in 1983, also have been staged in the "Baseball Palace of the World."

In 1933, all eyes were focused on Comiskey Park when it was the site of the first All-Star Game. Staged as part of the Century of Progress Exposition that ran on Chicago's lakefront that summer, the All-Star Game was an instant success as an official crowd of 47,595 crowded into Mr. Comiskey's house.

On July 6, 1983—50 years to the day—Comiskey Park was the site of the golden anniversary All-Star Game.

The American League won baseball's first all-star tilt, 4-2, on a two-run home run by the New York Yankees' Babe Ruth. And on July 6, 50 years later under the lights of America's oldest major league stadium, Fred Lynn of the California Angels hit the first grand slam homer in All-Star Game history, sparking the A.L. to a 13-3 rout of the National League.

The All-Star Game also returned to Comiskey Park on July 11, 1950. The N.L. prevailed 4-3 in 14 innings.

The heavyweight championship of the world was fought in Comiskey Park on June 22, 1937 when Joe Louis, the "Brown Bomber," defeated James J. Braddock. The football Cardinals, Mustang and Sting soccer, auto polo, war bond rallies, rock concerts, religious revivals, prep league championship games, the Negro League all-star game, wrestling, a host of celebrities including Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, John F. Kennedy, George M. Cohan, Senator Paul Douglas and thousands of people from all walks of life all over the world have enjoyed the nation's oldest ball park.

Comiskey Park. There is no other place quite like it!

The Future

Funding legislation for a new stadium for the White Sox was passed by the Illinois State Legislature in November of 1986. Illinois Governor James Thompson and then Chicago Mayor Harold Washington signed the legislation in a ceremony at Comiskey Park's home plate on January 19, 1987.

The new facility will be constructed immediately to the south of Comiskey Park.

Comiskey Park is approaching the end of its useful life. It has served an adoring public well.

Author and Chicagoan Rich Lindberg is a member of SABR (Society For American Baseball Research) who harbors a particular interest in White Sox history.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

Only two men have collected two hits in one inning in their first major league game—the New York Yankees' Billy Martin (1950) and Russ Morman of the White Sox (1986). Morman homered and singled for the White Sox in the fourth inning of his first big league game on August 3, 1986 against Detroit at Comiskey Park. He also singled in his first major league at bat in the second inning.

&Opening Day

++The American League's first no-hitter. Cleveland's Earl Moore pitched nine hitless innings. Chicago's Sandow Mertes singled in the 10th. The Sox eventually won 4-2 in 10 innings despite only two hits.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

The White Sox posted 11 runs on one hit on April 22, 1959. The ChiSox drew 10 walks in the seventh inning off A's pitchers Tom Gorman, Mark Freeman, and George Brunet. Eight came with the bases loaded, five by Brunet who also hit a batter. Preceding the run-scoring walks and hit batsman, the Sox scored their first two runs of the inning on Johnny Callison's single and on an error by A's right fielder Roger Maris. Chicago, a 20-6 winner, left three men on base in the seventh stanza, an inning in which Kansas City also contributed three errors.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

The White Sox collected a major league record three sacrifice flies in one inning in the second game of a July 1, 1962 doubleheader against Cleveland thanks to Indians' outfielder Gene Green who dropped two fly balls in the fifth stanza. The Sox had a runner on third base when ChiSox pitcher Juan Pizarro hit a fifth-inning drive toward Green. The Tribe's right fielder dropped the ball but Pizarro was awarded a sacrifice fly because the official scorer ruled the ball traveled far enough to drive in the run had the catch been made. Later in the inning, the scenario was repeated when Chicago's Nellie Fox lofted another ball Green dropped. The scorer again credited the batter with a sacrifice fly. Sox outfielder Al Smith accounted for the lone "normal" sacrifice fly of the inning when Green caught Smith's drive for the first out of the frame. Green's misplays contributed to a six-run White Sox inning which Chicago rode to a 7-6 victory.

MISCELLANEOUS

Charismatic White Sox shortstop Ozzie Guillen.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

On July 19, 1946, umpire Red Jones ejected 14 White Sox players from a game against Boston following a beanball controversy involving Sox hurler Joe Haynes and Red Sox Hall of Fame slugger Ted Williams. The bench jockeys who took the early shower included Ralph Hodgin, Dario Lodigiani, Eddie Smith, Mike Tresh, John Rigney, Leo Wells, Hal Trosky, Guy Curtright, Ed Lopat, Whitey Platt, Wally Moses, Frank Whitman, coach Ed Miller, and batting practice pitcher Glen Liebhardt. It was Ladies Day at Boston's Fenway Park and among other things, Jones was accused of courting the favor of the fairer sex rooting for Boston.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

Pat Seerey, a White Sox outfielder in 1948-49, became one of only 10 players in major league history to hit four home runs in one game, accomplishing the feat on July 18, 1948. Oddly, Seerey hit only eight more home runs—all in 1948—in an otherwise undistinguished major league career. His career home run total was 86. Seerey's big day was the opener of a doubleheader against the Philadelphia A's and his fourth round-tripper of the contest came in the 11th inning to propel the Sox to a 12-11 triumph. Seerey, obtained from Cleveland earlier in the 1948 season, saw his big league career end the next year with a four-game stint with the White Sox. He was only 26 years old when he left the major leagues.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

Tommie Agee remains the only White Sox player who is a member of baseball's exclusive "20/20" Club, that is, 20 home runs and 20 stolen bases in the same season. In his American League rookie-of-the-year 1966 season, the fleet-footed outfielder from Mobile, Alabama hit 22 homers and swiped 44 bases.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

There have been at least 11 books written about the White Sox, including team histories, biographies, memoirs, and one novel. The most noteworthy of the genre include Gus Axelson's "Commy" in 1919, Warren Brown's "Go-Go White Sox" in 1952, Eliot Asinof's "Eight Men Out" in 1963, Rich Lindberg's "Who's On Third?" in 1983 and the "White Sox Encyclopedia" in 1984, and Bob Vanderberg's "From Lane & Fain to Zisk and Fisk" in 1982. A feature film "Eight Men Out" based on Asinof's work will be released in 1988.

SOX SCRAPBOOK

Willie Kamm was arguably the best third baseman in White Sox history. He certainly was worth the $100,000 pre-inflation dollars that owner Charles Comiskey spent to obtain the young prospect in 1922. In 1928, Kamm played 75 consecutive games without committing an error.

GUIDELINES

Credentials

Application for credentials to White Sox baseball at Comiskey Park should be made in writing on appropriate letterhead. Address requests to Paul Jensen, Assistant Vice President-Public Relations, Chicago White Sox, 324 W. 35th Street, Chicago, IL 60616. Requests for season credentials should be received by March 21, 1988. Single-game or single-series requests should be received at least one week prior to the desired game(s). Season credentials will be mailed; single-game or single-series passes will be left at the press "will call" gate (9). Single-game or single-series credentials must be displayed at all times.

Media Will Call

Press "will call" at Comiskey Park is located at Gate 9 on the third base (Shields Avenue) or west side of the park. The gate opens beginning one and one-half hours prior to the game's starting time. Media needing earlier access to Comiskey Park should make special arrangements through the White Sox public relations office.

Parking

Press parking is limited. The White Sox public relations office will make every effort to accommodate media members. Most of the parking available to the press is located on 34th Street immediately north of the left field wall.

Clubhouses

The White Sox occupy the third base clubhouse; visiting teams man the first base clubhouse. The White Sox clubhouse is open to the media until approximately 30 minutes prior to the start of each game and again about 10 minutes following the game's conclusion. The White Sox clubhouse is closed to the media between games of doubleheaders unless special exceptions are made by the manager. The visiting clubhouse is subject to the rules of the respective club.

Access Limits

The White Sox training room, weight room, and players' lounge inside the White Sox clubhouse are off limits to the media at all times.

Dugouts

The dugouts are off limits during games to everyone except uniformed personnel and certain White Sox officials in accordance with American League rules.

Field

Credentials must be marked for field access. Credentials do not necessarily entitle holders access to the field. Media members with field privileges are free to circulate during batting practice through the conclusion of infield drills. Following both teams' infield drills, the field must be cleared of all non-uniformed personnel. Except in unusual cases, the field also is off limits following the conclusion of games.

Photo Locations

Field level and upper deck photo locations are available. The field level positions are located in dugouts on each baseline just beyond the players' dugouts. Since space is limited, most field photo positions are assigned for the season. Special arrangements for use of the field level positions must be made through the White Sox public relations office. Several photo baskets hang from the facade of the upper deck at varying intervals around the infield. There are no photo positions in the outfield or on Comiskey Park's roof.

Game Notes

Game notes and statistics are provided by both teams prior to each game in bins affixed to the front of row three in the main working room of the press box.

Post-Game Notes

Notes, clubhouse quotes, and statistics are provided to the press in written form as soon as possible following the game.

Press Box

Located on level five, most seats are assigned on a season bases. Access is limited strictly to working members of the media. Non-working members of the press should contact the public relations office prior to the game for accommodation in the stands. In addition to media servies, a light meal service, snacks, and beverages are available. No guests will be tolerated.

Bards Room

Press credentials afford media members admittance to the Comiskey Park Bards Room (level four) for a pre-game meal. The Bards Room, which serves press meals in its north dining room beginning two hours prior to the game, also opens for soft drinks for approximately one and one-half hours following the game. Space in the press dining room is limited so media members are asked to eat and relinquish their seats for others. A one dollar gratuity for the servers is traditional and appreciated.

Broadcast Booths

Comiskey Park broadcast booths are pre-assigned. There are only five. Broadcast booth needs should be directed to LauraJane Hyde, manager of broadcast operations. Spanish-language station WTAQ, La Grange, broadcasts all White Sox home games, further limiting booth availability for non-broadcast needs.

Interviews

Uniformed personnel normally are available to the media on the field during batting practice and in the clubhouse during times when the clubhouse is open to the press. Media members needing to reach members of the White Sox organization at other times should contact the club's public relations office.
